Open Space: A Community Imperative

Schiff Natural Lands Trust is a nonprofit organization run by an all-volunteer board of trustees. We provide oversight for more than 750 acres of preserved land and a network of 14 miles of trails in the Mendhams and Chester in Morris County, New Jersey.

The land Schiff has acquired helps ensure the natural beauty of our community, which attracts visitors who want to shop and eat in our rural setting and entices professionals and families who want to call this area home. Our stewardship efforts improve local wildlife habitats, and keep our air and waterways clean.

Our main trailhead is located in Mendham Township and is home to our Nature Center, where we offer a variety of environmental programming and recreational activities to hundreds of adults, children, scouting, and school groups throughout the year.

In the past, Schiff has partnered with local municipalities and other environmental organizations to acquire and protect much of this open space, but our most important work — to be good stewards of the land and preserve its integrity and natural beauty for generations to come — requires that we raise funds annually from private donors and business entities.

Funding from businesses big and small helps us battle invasive plant species and deer browse that damage fragile ecosystems. These funds support our efforts to conduct prescribed burns, repair storm damage, and keep our trails clear for hikers, runners, dog walkers and horseback riders.

Schiff's visitors are your customers, clients, and employees. Supporting Schiff reflects your commitment to the environmental health and wellbeing of our community.

Keep your donation dollars local!
